

Fact Sheet: H.R. 4673 – Promoting Women in the Aviation Workforce Act

Summary

- H.R. 4673 expresses the sense of Congress that the industry should promote, encourage, and support women to pursue careers in aviation.
- The bill expresses that the aviation industry should support pilot training, science, technology, engineering, and mathematics education and mentorship programs to support female students.
- The bill also creates an advisory board from broad range of aviation interests to support women's involvement in the aviation field.
- The advisory board would be tasked with creating a comprehensive plan of strategies the Federal Aviation Administration can take to support women in the aviation field, which would form the basis of a comprehensive report to Congress.
- H.R. 4673 was introduced in the House on December 18, 2017, by Congresswoman Elizabeth Esty (D-CT). A Senate companion bill, S. 2244, was introduced on December 18, 2017 by Senator Susan Collins (R-ME).
